To George's loving wife, Terry, his children, and his extended family: Earnie and I have enjoyed knowing George for the past 11 years as our neighbor and more importantly as our good friend. George was a strong but gentle, soft spoken man, with a sly sense of humor who was always kind and easy to be with. He was also a very loving man and this was evidenced in the way he interacted with his wife, his children, and his friends. We feel blessed to have known George and we will truly miss him and his friendship. With our deepest sympathy, Earnie and Anita James

My father thru my eyes. A Devoted Husband, Wonderful man and a Perfect father. Never one to say no. But always there to let you learn about life but never let you get hurt. He knew and practiced the meaning of Unconditional Love to his family. He never asked for much for himself, but always wanted the Very Best for All of his family. POWERFUL, STRONG, INTELLIGENT, SINCERE, HONEST and COMMITTED only a few words that describe what a wonderful man he was and will be in my life. I can only wish I could be as Good of a man as he.

I have it on authority that you are the very best, Richard, but there will never be another man here on earth today, better than your dad.
