“ Joe was a gift to everyone! One of things that I remember about him, is that he could really tell a story. He was also very kind and generous! I remember one time in particular-Bill and I stopped by one Sunday afternoon and I noticed that he had two white wrought iron chairs that needed to be painted. He said he was going to do this and sell them at a yard sale. I told him when he got ready to get rid of them let me know and we would buy them. Anyway, time went by and when we got in the car to leave, he had put those chairs in the back of the car without me knowing it! I painted them and they are sitting in my little flower garden today. Bill will greatly miss him because Joe reminded him so much of his dad! Our prayers and thoughts are with all of you at this time! May God bless and keep you!
