“ Here, some two plus years following her passing I sorrowfully learn of Lotties leaving. Lottie was to me a wonderful rare combination of surrogate aunt and senior sister which I did not have. Her early friendship with Ada Standridge, my mother, defined for me how richly such close unions could prosper and influence those who were privileged to observe such comradery. Lottie always had kind, happy and influential greetings for me flavored with wise advice. For each of the extended family members who may read this belated expression of memorial and extension of sympathy, I often think of Lottie and hope I may part this life having engendered that which Lottie did... happiness and love.
